Mr. and Mrs. Belt became acquainted at a Maine watering place in the summer of 1884, and were married in October. Mr. Belt was an and were married in October. Mr. Belt was an old bachelor of Baltimore, and very wealthy. Mrs. Godfrey was a lady quite noted for her beauty, who was formerly well-known in this city. The marriage was hastened at Belt's urgent solicitation. A few months after the marriage Mr. Belt took his bride to New Orleans, and there suddenly deserted her, leaving her there utterly destitute. Mrs. Belt was subsequently informed that her husband had received a printed account, published in a newspaper, of an affair at Welcker's hotel here in 1878, in which Mrs. Godfrey and Mr. Acklen, then a Representative from Louisiana, figured. She wrote her husband that she could explain it all, but received no answer. Then she came on ll, but received no answer. Then she came on to Baltimore, having obtained assistance from her friends, but was refused admission to his house. Her distress was so great that she be-came temporarily insane. Upon recovering her mental health she began proceedings for divorce, on the ground of desertion, and it was upon her suit that divorce was granted yesterday. The husband did not deny the facts of the desertion. He replied by filing a cross-bill against her, alleg-duct on her part before her marriage The laws of Maryland recognize misconduct be ore marriage as a ground for divorce. It was in the effort to sustain his charge that the wit-nesses who confessed to perjury were employed. Under the decree granted yesterday neither party can marry.

The case was of more than usual importance n Washington, as it gave occasion for exposing he manner in which testimony can be manuactured, especially where witnesses are exam-ned privately before a commissioner or examiner. The witnesses who were obtained for Mr. Belt by a private detective, named Cunlingham, swore to a number of statements inicating that Mrs. Belt had been a frequent isitor to a certain house here, and that the house was one of questionable character.

Mrs. Belt was represented by Mr. Henry W.

BURIED IN A MINE.—A dispatch from Pottsville, Pa., says: Sharp mountain, the southern boundary of Pottsville, has been completely honeycombed with mines in all the various forms of shafts, slopes and drifts. Every few months the mine inspector closes up some piace on account of the risk to which the miners are exposed. A few months ago James Kirk, who had made and lost several fortunes in coal mining, was working in one of these rabbit holes when the root rock caved in on him, and Victor Fraut, who went in to rescue Kirk, was killed by a second fall. Last evening, in the upper heading of a mine, run by Joseph Shablein, the five miners at work cut into and pulled down on themselves the abandoned workings of an older mine. Four of them managed to escape, but Andrew Murphy, who had a wife and eight children, was caught and buried.

IMPROVEMENT PROSPECTS.—Indications of I reparations for new buildings next spring are now multiplying on every hand here. Many building lots have lately changed hands, and the vacant lots which ten years ago were to be found on most of the blocks on paved streets are now filled up. From the river to Columbus street only three lots remain without houses, and two of these have long been used as gardens. S. B. Stoutenburg has purchased six building lots in the rear of the court house for $725. L. D. Soper has bought one for $210. Jas. Williams has bought a lot in the same neighborhood for $150. The need of good streetways is much augmented by these improvements.

him to the street. After marching Holler about fifty yards from the jail they bade him stand while they backed off a few steps from him. At the first command of their leader they failed to fire. When the command was given again one of the mob advanced and, pointing a revolver at Holler, fired. This shot struck Holler in the abdomen. Holler then ran back toward the jail under a fusilade from the balance of the mob, but, strange to say, was not again hit. He turned up an alley to run by the jail. Here the men who had been left to guard Anderson fired at him with guns and revolvers, and he was again hit in the breast with a part of the charge from a shotgun. He still ran on, however, and escaped from the lynchers, who hunted for him for a few minutes, then left and went their way. Shortly afterward Holler was found. The physicians found that the ball that entered the stomach had rauged downward, inflicting a fatal wound. fatal wound.

The crime that Holler was charged with was committed in June last. Two old ladies named McLaughlin and Taylor, sisters, living on a farm five miles west of this city, were most brutally stabbed in cold blood by some man who had entered their house late at night. Several men were arrested and brought before the old ladies, but were not identified. When Holler was brought before them, however, they declared him to be the man. Other circumstances seemed to sustain the charge, and the general seemed to sustain the charge, and the general opinion is that Holler is guilty.

The Tabor Divorce Case. TESTIMONY IN THE BOSTON SCANDAL-ELIZA BETH JACKSON'S STORY. The Massachusetts supreme court-room in Boston was crowded Monday, the unusual interest in the proceedings being due to the fact that evidence in the divorce case of Frank Tabor against his wife Annie was to be heard. The charges which led to these proceedings have their origin in the recent scandal involving Mrs. Tabor and Rev. W. W. Downs, of the Bowdoin Square Baptist church, both of whom are now under bonds on a charge of adultery. Rev. Mr. Downs was the first witness, and gave in detail, as heretofore published, his explanation of the circumstances under which he was found with Mrs. Tabor in her room at her boarding-house on the night of August 17th. boarding-house on the night of August 17th. She said she was working out at the Evans house. Mr. Downs came to see her about a week after that; she said he was her brother. She said he was the pastor of the Bowdoin Square church, and witness thought they were all in that religion brothers and sisters. He chiefly came in the evening, and stayed from half an hour to two hours. Witness described the scene which occurred in her house on the night of August 17th, when Mr. Tabor and the officers burst in the door and found Downs and Mrs. Tabor strapping down the trunk. James Jarvis, the private detective employed by Mr. Tabor, testified to his knowledge of Mr. Downs and Mrs. Tabor in the Derne street house, and to his bursting open the door with a twenty-pound Tabor in the Derne street house, and to his bursting open the door with a twenty-pound dumb bell. LIQUID BREAD

A PURE MALT EXTRACT.

Possesses the highest merit. It is manufactured from the choicest-materials, and combines the most pala-table qualities of a refreshing drink, with the invigor-ating and wholesome properties of the best Malt Extracts.

It is a true tonic and delightful beverage, alike desirable for invalids and persons in health. Will be found upon trial to be a pleasant and complete substitute for all alcoholic drinks, most of which are too stimulating all alcoholic drinks, most of which are too stimulating for delicate constitutions.

Is the beverage "Par Excellence" for nursing mothers, creates an abundance of milk, while it strengthens and invigorates the entire system.

After careful analysis, Wilbur G. Hall, Ph. D., New York, says: "Liquid Bread is a refreshing, notirishing table beverage, and a wholesome invigorating tonic. It is palatable to the taste, and of easy assimilation."

Frank L. James, Ph. D., M.D., St. Louis, after analysis, says: "Its low percentage of alcohol, its effervescence, its delightful taste and odor, all combine to recommend Nicholson's Malt Extract as being a most nourishing beverage, and the best article of the sort that has ever come under my examination."

Sold by all leading Grocers and Druggists.
